

How can Moldova improve its energy supply?

"When you look at energy supply, you need to start with the demand. If the demand can go down by 40-50%, that's part of the bigger picture," she said. In addition to diversifying energy sources, Hansen highlighted energy efficiency as a key area where Moldova could make rapid gains.

Are efficiency investments a key element of Moldova's long-term energy strategy?

In an interview with bne IntelliNews, Hansen highlighted efficiency investments as a critical element of the country's long-term energy strategy, as it continues to navigate energy security challenges. Moldova's energy security has been a pressing issue, exacerbated by external shocks and supply vulnerabilities.

Does EBRD support Moldova during the gas crisis?

"If you can save more than 40% [of energy consumed] then it really does make sense," said Hansen. The EBRD and Moldova's other international partners supported the country during the gas crisis, supporting Moldova with a EUR300mn facility to help cover gas purchases.
