What's happening on Heard Island & McDonald Islands?

Landing stores, Atlas Cove, Heard Island with Rogers Head in background Photo: Alan Campbell-Drury Due to the extreme isolation of Heard Island and McDonald Islands (HIMI), together with the persistently severe weather and sea conditions, human activities in the region have been, and remain, limited.

Where are the Heard and McDonald Islands located?

The Heard and McDonald Islands are remote subantarctic volcanic features located in the Southern Ocean, halfway between Australia and South Africa. They are approximately 1700 km from the Antarctic continent and 4000 km southwest of mainland Australia (Australian Government 2016). Heard Island is 43 km long and 21 km wide.

Could energy Islands be a solution to net zero?

Energy islands could be a solution to achieving net zero by gathering green electricity from vast arrays of wind turbines and maximizing energy efficiency. This high-tech solution, which would complement offshore renewables and could become reality within the next decade, produces green hydrogen or stores electricity in batteries.

Can offshore wind farms create energy islands?

Large offshore wind farms with added storage capabilities like batteries and hydrogen can create energy islands. In such cases, more of the wind's energy can be harnessed, and the costs of transmitting this energy back to shore are reduced - thus lowering the costs to customers in achieving net zero.

Are there scientific studies on Heard Island?

Although hindered by the extreme isolation and unfavourable working conditions, scientific studies have been carried out on Heard Island since the first research visit by scientists from the HMS Challenger in 1874. See the Research Expeditions pages in the History section of this website for more information.

Are energy islands the future of renewables?

According to Sam Boorman, a consultant at FTI Consulting working on interconnectors in the North Sea, "energy islands are an exciting prospect that could allow greater roll out of renewables at lower overall cost";

HEARD AND MCDONALD ISLANDS AUSTRALIA Heard Island and the McDonald Islands are in the Southern Ocean, approximately 4,100 km south-west of Perth and 1,700 km from the Antarctic continent.
